

Everybody Plays! Recreation Scholarship FAQs

1. How do I apply for a scholarship? Visit www.cityofvancouver.us/scholarship to complete the online application. Applications are available in English, Spanish and Russian.
2. Who can apply for a scholarship? Scholarships may be awarded to youth (ages 18 and younger) and adults with cognitive/developmental disabilities who want to participate in Access to Recreation programs. A parent or legal guardian should complete the scholarship application to make sure all required documentation is received.
3. Can I apply for a scholarship for my grandchild, niece, nephew or other relation? You must be a parent or legal guardian of the scholarship recipient to apply for the scholarship. This aligns with the IRS definition of a legal child (such as a child or grandchild who lives with you more than half the year and meets certain other IRS criteria).
4. Who should be listed as members of the household on the application? Anyone who lives in the household should be included, even if they are not registering for a class during the term. Each person reported when filling tax forms would be counted as household members on the application. Scholarship eligibility is based on a combination of family size and household income.
5. What activities can the scholarship be applied to? Scholarships can be used for eligible:
 - Youth classes, camps or leagues for youth ages 18 and younger
 - Access to Recreation programs
 - Scholarships cannot be applied to community center memberships or fitness services. Visit the front desk at Firstenburg or Marshall community centers for more information or exemptions.
6. What documentation is required along with my application to verify income? Proof of residency is needed to confirm the household is within Clark County and income verification is required to determine if the family meets HUD federal income limits for scholarship eligibility. Documents are needed for all adults (19+) in the household. See the next page for a chart with information on income type and required documents.
7. What do I include for household monthly gross income? Income received by any adult in the household during the month should be totaled. This amount is the pre-tax gross income. Income includes wages, salaries, tips, unemployment income, child support payments, TANF benefits, and SSI or SSDI payments.
8. Is money I receive for my education considered income? Payments of scholarships, fellowships, grants and financial aid are not considered income. However, if you are in school, this documentation could support your statement of having no income, your need for a scholarship, and/or verify that you are a Clark County resident.
9. What if I am a foster parent and want to request a scholarship for a foster child? All foster children are automatically eligible for scholarships. You do not need to submit total household income information. Instead, provide documentation verifying the child's foster status and income received through the foster system. The foster parent must still include a document that proves current residency in Clark County.
10. Why do you ask for demographic information (disabilities, ethnicity, date of birth, age, gender identity) for household members? Summary demographic data may be used to improve community outreach about the program, shared in grant applications or provided to funders to highlight the need for additional financial investment in the scholarship program. Individual and family information is never released.
11. Do I need to be a Vancouver resident to apply for a scholarship? No, but you must be a permanent resident of Clark County. Note that the fees for recreation activities are approximately 15% higher for those who live outside Vancouver city limits, even with scholarship assistance.
12. How much is the scholarship award? A 50% discount is awarded to all approved recipients.
13. What if I have a special circumstance? If you have additional questions about the scholarship application form, program eligibility or your own situation, call either community center to speak with a customer service representative. Translation services over the phone are available by request.
