

CDBG And HOME funded projects

2019-2023
Outcomes

Isabella Court 2 – Built with HUD funding assistance

CDBG: Building resilient, stronger communities

The Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program is funded by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) that supports community development activities to build stronger and more resilient communities. Each year, the City of Vancouver receives approximately $1.3 million in CDBG funding for projects and programs benefiting low-income residents.

HOME: Creating Affordable Housing

Home Investment Partnerships Program (HOME) is the largest Federal block grant to local governments designed exclusively to create affordable housing. HOME funds activities such as building, buying, and/or rehabilitating affordable housing for rent or homeownership or providing direct rental assistance to people experiencing low income.

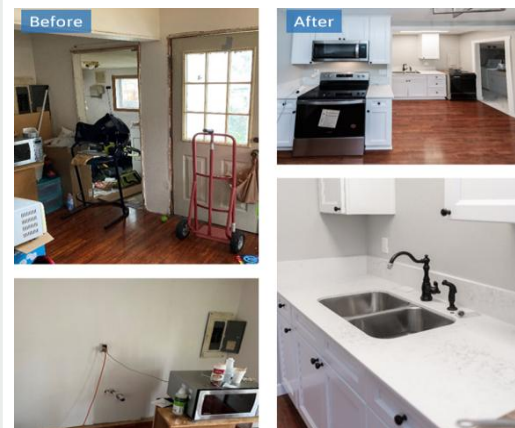

CDBG+HOME = Success

Together, Vancouver's two federal housing programs have:

- Raised a combined annual average around $2-3 M
- Received a total of $67M more than two decades
- Leverage $5 in other private and public funds for ever $1 in federal funds invested

Home rehab program

The City's Housing Rehabilitation Program assists qualified homeowners in need of home repairs. Below is one example of the City's work to help a homeowner who contacted the rehab team.
